The 7-Month Window

When to enroll — and what happens if you wait

Your Initial Enrollment Period (IEP) is a 7-month window centered on the month you turn 65. It's your first and best chance to enroll in Medicare without a penalty.

Example: if you turn 65 in July 2026, this is your window:

3 before APR	2 before MAY	1 before JUN	BIRTHDAY JUL	1 after AUG	2 after SEP	3 after OCT
------------------------	------------------------	------------------------	-------------------------	-----------------------	-----------------------	-----------------------

NOW IT'S YOUR TURN — WRITE OUT YOUR OWN WINDOW

My 65th birthday month is: _____

↑ BEFORE

↓ AFTER

3 months before: _____

1 month after: _____

2 months before: _____

2 months after: _____

1 month before: _____

3 months after: _____

Circle your birthday month above — those 7 months are your IEP. The smartest move is to enroll BEFORE your birthday month so coverage starts on time.

The penalty is real: 10% added to your Part B premium for every 12 full months you delay. It applies as long as you have Medicare. A one-year delay can cost you $5,000+ over a typical 20-year retirement.

The 4 Parts of Medicare

What each one does, in one sentence

Hospital

Covers hospital stays, skilled nursing, hospice care, and some home health care. For most people, Part A is premium-free if you or your spouse worked 10+ years.

Medical

Covers doctor visits, outpatient care, preventive services, and durable medical equipment. The standard 2026 premium is $202.90/month, with additional charges (IRMAA) for higher-income earners.

C

Medicare Advantage

An alternative to Original Medicare offered by private insurance companies. It bundles Parts A, B, and usually D, and often adds dental, vision, and hearing.

D

Prescription Drugs

Covers prescription medications. Sold separately if you have Original Medicare, or included in most Medicare Advantage plans.

You'll need Original Medicare (Parts A + B) plus a Part D plan, OR a Medicare Advantage plan (Part C). The next page explains how to choose.

Do I Have to Enroll Yet?

Turning 65 doesn't always mean enrolling today

If you or your spouse are working and have current employer coverage, you may be able to delay Part B without penalty — only under specific conditions. Answer 2 questions.

1 Are you or your spouse working TODAY, with coverage from THAT current employer?

NO ↓

⚠️ Enroll now, within your 7-month IEP.

YES ↓

Go to question 2. (COBRA and retiree coverage don't count.)

2 Does that employer have 20+ employees?

NO ↓

⚠️ Enroll. Medicare must be primary.

YES ✓

You can delay, no penalty.

This is educational, not advice. Your situation may have details that change the answer — that's why reviewing case-by-case with a licensed agent is the safest path.

Advantage vs. Supplement

The biggest decision you'll make

There's no universally right answer. The right plan depends on YOUR doctors, YOUR medications, and YOUR lifestyle. Here's an honest comparison of when each one usually fits best.

Medicare Advantage usually fits if:

- You see your doctors mostly in Florida year-round
- You want extras like dental, vision, hearing, OTC, gym
- You're okay with a provider network
- You prefer a low monthly premium (sometimes $0)
- Your current doctors are in the network

Medicare Supplement usually fits if:

- You're a snowbird or split time between states
- You see specialists outside Florida
- You prefer predictable costs over low premiums
- You want the broadest possible network
- You don't want to deal with referrals or prior authorizations

There's no shortcut to figuring out which one works for you. The worksheet at the end of this guide will help. So will a 20-minute call with us — free, no pressure.

What Medicare Costs in 2026

The numbers most people don't see coming

Even with a $0 premium plan, you'll have other costs. Here are the key numbers.

Part B premium (standard)

$202.90/mo

Higher if you earn more than $109k single / $218k couple (this is IRMAA)

Part B deductible

$283/year

What you pay before Part B starts covering

Max out-of-pocket on Medicare Advantage

Up to $9,250

The most you could pay in a single year on a typical MA plan

IRMAA surcharge

$74 to $443/mo extra

Added to your Part B if your income (from 2 years ago) exceeds the threshold

Always ask: "What's the maximum I could pay in a year?" — not just the premium.

Income dropped due to retirement or another life change? You can appeal your IRMAA with form SSA-44. Ask us how.

5 Mistakes Floridians Make

And exactly how to avoid each one

01 Assuming Medicare automatically enrolls you

Medicare only auto-enrolls people already receiving Social Security. If you're not, you have to enroll yourself at ssa.gov. Mark your IEP on the calendar — TODAY.

02 Choosing a plan based only on the premium

A $0 premium plan can cost you thousands more than a $200 plan if your doctors aren't in network or your medications aren't on the formulary. Always check both.

03 Forgetting about snowbird coverage

If you split time between Florida and another state — or travel internationally — ask specifically about coverage outside Florida and outside the U.S. Many MA plans have very limited travel coverage.

04 Dropping employer coverage too soon

If you have employer insurance with a 20+ employee company, you may be able to delay Part B without penalty. The rules are specific — verify before dropping anything.

05 Working with an out-of-state agent

Florida has state-specific rules and plans that vary by county. A Florida-based agent will know what provider networks, hospitals, and plans are available in your area — things a national call center can't know.

The Clarity Sheet

Compare any 3 Medicare plans on one page

Print this page (or take a photo with your phone). Use it to compare any plan you're considering. The sheet works for both Medicare Advantage and Medicare Supplement plans. Fill in each box for each plan. When all three columns are complete, the right plan becomes obvious.

Why Work With Us

What an independent broker actually does for you

In Florida you have dozens of Medicare plans and at least 14 major carriers. Each with its own networks, copays, drug formularies, and extra benefits. It's nearly impossible to compare them on your own. That's what we're here for.

14+

Carriers represented

We work with Humana, UnitedHealthcare, Aetna, Wellcare, Cigna (HealthSpring), and many more. We're not tied to one company — we recommend what's right for YOU.

$0

Cost to you

We never charge you. The carriers pay us for handling enrollment and service — but our loyalty stays with you.

100%

Paperwork handled

We take care of the application, signatures, submission, and follow-up. You just make the decision — we do the rest.

365

Days of service per year

We don't disappear after enrollment. If you have a problem with your plan, a confusing bill, or need help any time — you call and we resolve it.

OUR PROMISE

We compare your options honestly, explain the differences in plain English, and help you choose the plan that fits YOUR doctors, YOUR medications, and YOUR life — not the highest commission. Period.

What to Do Now

Your action plan in three steps

STEP 1 — THIS WEEK

Mark your IEP on the calendar. Make a list of every doctor you see and every medication you take, with dosages. Both lists are essential before you can compare plans.

STEP 2 — WITHIN THE NEXT MONTH

Have a conversation with someone who can explain Florida-specific options to you. It can be us, your local SHIP counselor, or another licensed agent. Free consultations are standard — never pay for one.

STEP 3 — THREE MONTHS BEFORE YOUR BIRTHDAY

Enroll. Don't wait until the last week of your IEP. If you've done Steps 1 and 2, this part is straightforward.
